

WARNING! They Are Desperate To Start The Iran War! The world is being pushed to war on purpose, and those attempting to push this war are desperate!!!

The world is being pushed to war on purpose, and those attempting to push this war are desperate. Fortunately, a majority of nations have intelligence agencies with a better ability to discover the truth than even the best of the truth movement, and now that the false flag genie is out of the bottle and under public scrutiny the elite have lost their primary war starting weapon. Phony items such as the Muhammad flick are now quickly skewered and shown for what they are, and absent it coming to light so quickly I really think we would be at war right now. Too many people cried foul for it to work, and even a few nailed the entire psy op dead on. But there is still cause for concern. They may not have profited from the

Muhammad film festival, but they are also not giving up on the overall theatrical presentation. It seems like since their war on Iran got stifled, they are after another object of their hatred, - Japan. How is it that suddenly the Chinese people are now in a rage? This following on the heels of a colossal failure in the Middle East is more than suspicious, it's damning. It's almost like they are trying to at least get their hands on a plain donut after dropping the sugar coated one in the desert sand.

My advice to the world: Don't fall for any of it. There is not going to be some mythical great awakening and push for war by ANYONE outside of external instigation, truth be told people almost never care about what is going on even 50 miles from them, people just want to live their lives. And in all cases, the local government will be what people have to deal with face to face, and it is their own local situation that they will naturally get emotional about, NOT some stupid batch of islands no one lives on or an obscure, poorly produced YouTube video. The biggest danger we face is the fact that the people in charge of the theatrics are very powerful, and for some reason they are very desperate. They want a war. They know there is a major awareness happening in at least 15 percent of the public, and a gray awareness in approximately half. That's too much for them to deal with, statistically speaking three percent is the safety threshold. That may sound like a small number, but that is the magic number and we are well past that, far too many people see the lie machine for what it is. So our odds of war are in fact being determined by their ratio of desperation to that of public awareness. And that ratio is at a tipping point, it is impossible to know which way it is going to tilt.

Please don't fall for the next scam. Please do not fall for ANY scam. The wars are wanted and pushed by the Rothschilds, the Rockefellers, a few loose nuts in Israel, the American Jewish community as proven by their tainted media, and the American military industrial machine and it's associated criminals such as Clinton and Bush. The silliness of the Mohammed movie proves that the real war pushers are in a minority even within that minority, because the poor production quality proves the talent pool is very small. Unfortunately the worst criminals rise to the top among those who govern wealthy people who slouch in their vigilance and submit to being heavily robbed by taxes, which then in turn only provide the money to fund further corruption. This has happened to America, and for far too long, SO LONG now that all of the big players are in an increasingly small group. And that group has an agenda of world domination.

I learned an important thing in business.

If someone decides they are going to steal and are not stopped or at least reprimanded for stealing, the stealing will escalate until it hits 100 percent theft. This trend also follows in politics. If politicians are allowed to be criminals and are allowed to become worse and worse thieves and murderers, those criminals, if funded with enough resources, will continue in their crimes until they rob and destroy the entire world. That is what we are up against, and we are one step away from it. They will do it by the consent of silence, DO NOT give them that!

I am not certain they will manage to pull this off, but I am very worried. If they were not so desperate to make the final push I would put our odds at 50/50. But they ARE desperate, and desperate people do stupid things. Arrogance also plays a major role here, and if their desperation and arrogance happens to be at the right ratio they will go ahead with their war, consent be damned. They GOT their massive surveillance machine in place and have enough prison camps to handle the worst dissenters. And with the amount of awareness at a level far beyond three percent, THAT is what we need to worry about. I advise people that no matter what happens to get reported in the news, call it fake until you prove every point of the accompanying story line is not, and if they go ahead with the war anyway, LOCK AND LOAD, you are going to need to.

[https://www.godlikeproductions.com/
forum1/message5603355/pg1](https://www.godlikeproductions.com/forum1/message5603355/pg1)

PROBABLE CLASSIFIED INFO TO PREVENT A NUCLEAR CATASTROPHE IN IRAN

In 1989, while I was in an NSA SCIF, I got the following information but it was just in general conversation, and I don't know if it is classified.

In 1989 the U.S. military was experimenting with bunker buster bombs near Denver Colorado. The experimental designs did not have explosives in them; they just wanted to see how far they could penetrate granite with a low budget. The winner:

THE WINNER was a large World War 2 artillery gun barrel that was outfitted with a penetrating tip at the small end, and fins at the large end. The design consideration was that the inside of the barrel itself was the space the explosive charge would go in, so they filled it with inert material with approximately equal weight, they did not want these bombs to go off. They wanted to dig the bombs out after the drop to see how far into granite they went.

They dropped all of the bomb designs from 40,000 feet and when they dug down to the one based on an artillery gun barrel, it penetrated 189 feet. That's approximately 50 meters. 50 meters into solid granite.

So when you look up the specific gravity of 4140 steel, which the artillery barrel was likely to be made of, it has a specific gravity of 7.83. And the hardness is 54-59 HRC. Do you think they made the CLASSIFIED bunker busting bombs with that? You know, the bombs that other countries are not allowed to buy, and you won't find them listed anywhere? I don't. I think they probably used tungsten. Why not tungsten? Why settle for a specific gravity of a mere 7.83 when you can have a specific gravity of 17 instead? And about the hardness - Why settle for a hardness of 54-59 HRC when it could be 69 - 81 instead with tungsten?

How far would a tungsten based bunker buster penetrate if it used the gun barrel design with ZERO improvements? More than 200 meters when you calculate deceleration rates with the added weight, not even factoring in the added hardness.

And depleted uranium would be even worse. Bottom line: Fordo is TOAST. Kiss it away. Why did NORAD move their main operations out of Cheyenne mountain? My guess is that the results of the real bunker buster tests showed it to not be viable anymore. CHEYENNE MOUNTAIN IS 610 METERS DEEP.

So what should Iran do right now, with Trump getting all belligerent about an imminent strike on nuclear facilities?

Iran should consider the fact that the (advertised) bunker busters are BULLSHIT and that's not what is going to be used. Iran should consider a place like Cheyenne Mountain to not be enough protection. Iran needs to avoid a nuclear disaster by getting off it's butt RIGHT NOW AND:

1. Shut down Bushehr IMMEDIATELY and take the core out IMMEDIATELY and get it off site or at least to a location where if there is a hit on the facility, Iran does not end up with Chernobyl 4X. Lights out. Better that than a catastrophe.

2. Kiss the centrifuges goodbye, they are pathetic trash anyway and get the nuclear materials to a location, you know, like YOUR DEEPEST MINE and hide them there IMMEDIATELY so they don't end up spewed all the way to the Lut. Forget procedure, you have a national emergency on your hands, and it is called: NOT DIGGING A HOLE when you had all the time in the world to do things right. Fordo is TOAST. If anyone wondered why NORAD moved their main ops out of Cheyenne Mountain, it's because the real bunker busters would bust that mountain.

THE BOTTOM LINE:

Iran needs to kiss its nuclear projects away, at least for a time. All those materials need to be put in a mine that has tunnels MILES underground so that if they do get struck, Iran won't be a toxic wasteland.

"U.S. Treasury Secretary warns Iranians: "If I were Iranian, I would convert all my money into something other than the Rial right now." March 7, 2025

@FaytuksNetwork

I don't believe Israel is after Iran's nuclear program. I think Israel is after IDEOLOGICAL SUPERIORITY. So even if Iran hands Israel everything nuclear immediately while whimpering like a simp, Israel is going to attack anyway. A simple attack on nuclear facilities would not cause the US treasury secretary to post that, only a new "shock and awe" that completely destroyed Iran would.

<http://voterig.com>

